Aspiring rapper, Adel Euro was one of over 200 people killed in recent Baghdad attack.

According to Newsweek, an aspiring rapper/dancer by the name of Adel Euro (real name Adel Al-Jaf) was one of 213 people killed in the Karrada district of Baghdad when a suicide bomb detonated over the weekend.

ISIS has claimed responsibility for the attack in Baghdad, which serves as one of the deadliest in the city.

According to reports, Adel Euro had just survived a bombing in 2015.

“As Iraqis mourn every life taken in the blasts, many have taken to social media to pay a series of online tributes to Al-Jaf, a burgeoning singer, rapper and filmmaker who had in 2015 survived another bomb blast in the Iraqi capital. He had worked with the New York dance group ‘Battery Dance’ and performed with them previously in the Jordanian capital, Amman,” Newsweek reports.

In the past year, Adel posted a series of music videos to his YouTube profile. The various videos serve as visuals to a handful of original songs, including “Hip Hopper” and “You Were.”

HipHopDX sends its condolences to the family and friends of Adel Euro.
